Text 1

Emma was walking home from school when she found an old blue backpack on the dirt. It looked ordinary, but when she picked it up, something strange happened. The backpack felt warm and light, almost like it was alive.

At home, Emma opened the backpack and was surprised to find it was full of beautiful, colorful books. She had never seen these books before. When she touched the first book, it opened by itself and the pages began to glow softly. The story was about a brave girl who could talk to animals.

Emma read for hours without getting tired. When she finished the first book, another one appeared in the backpack. This time it was about a boy who could fly. Emma realized that this was no ordinary backpack. It was magic!

Every day after school, Emma would sit in her room and read the magical books. Each story taught her something new about courage, friendship, and kindness. Emma kept the magic backpack secret, but she became happier and more confident every day.

81. What can be the best title of this story?
1. The Secret Backpacks
2. The Secret Book
3. The Magic Book
4. The Magical Backpack

82. Where did Emma find the backpack?
1. On the ground
2. At school
3. In her bedroom
4. In the library

83. What happened when Emma touched the first book?
1. The book disappeared immediately.
2. The book became very heavy.
3. The book shone lightly.
4. The book started talking softly.

84. Why did Emma keep the backpack secret?
1. Because she was afraid of the magic.
2. Because it was special for her.
3. Because she didn't want to share the books.
4. Because her parents wouldn't believe her.

85. What is the main theme of this story?
1. The magic of reading and learning.
2. Finding friends at school.
3. The importance of studying hard.
4. Taking care of lost objects.

Text 2

Many people around the world are choosing to cycle more often, not just for sport but also as a daily way to travel. Cycling offers numerous advantages for both people and the environment.

Firstly, it's an excellent form of exercise. Regular cycling can significantly improve your heart health, strengthen your muscles, and help you manage your weight. It's a low-impact activity, which means it is gentle on your joints, making it suitable for many ages. People often feel more energetic and less stressed after a good bike ride.

Secondly, cycling is very environmentally friendly. Unlike cars or buses, bicycles produce no harmful emissions, helping to reduce air pollution in our cities. They also take up less space and contribute to less traffic congestion. For shorter journeys, cycling is often quicker than driving, especially in busy urban areas.

Finally, cycling can be very cost-effective. You don't need to pay for fuel, parking, or expensive public transport tickets every day. Its maintenance costs are generally low. Many cities are now building special bike lanes, making it safer and more convenient for cyclists. So, if you're looking for a healthier, greener, and cheaper way to travel, perhaps it's time to get on a bike!

86. What is the best topic of this passage?
1. How to Buy a Bicycle in a City
2. The History of Cycling
3. Benefits of Cycling
4. Cycling for the Environment

87. What is the main purpose of this passage?
1. To explain how to ride a bicycle safely.
2. To compare cycling with other sports.
3. To describe the history of cycling.
4. To persuade people to consider cycling as transportation.

88. How is cycling good for the environment?
1. It produces more traffic.
2. It uses a lot of fuel.
3. It creates no harmful chemicals.
4. It makes cities clearer.

89. When does the passage suggest cycling is often quicker than driving?
1. On long journeys.
2. In busy city areas for shorter journeys.
3. When there are bike lanes.
4. During rush hour traffic.

90. What are many cities doing to help cyclists?
1. Building more car parks.
2. Making driving easier.
3. Constructing lanes suitable for bikers.
4. Buying bikes for everyone.
